Committee on Government Operations
House of Representatives

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This report is a partial response to your request of December 18, 1990. It contains information on the overall composition of the U.S. military services by race or national origin identification and by gender.

Results in Brief

In 1972 blacks comprised 11.1 percent of the active duty forces, Hispanics 3.6 percent, whites 83.6 percent, and others 1.7 percent. In 1990 corresponding percentages were 20.8, 4.6, 70.4, and 4.2. In 1972 men comprised 98.1 percent and women 1.9 percent, while in 1990 those proportions were 89.0 and 11.0, respectively. Figures 1 and 2 show these active duty distributions for fiscal years 1972 and 1990.

Appendixes I through VI show endstrength and composition data for fiscal years 1971 through 1990 by race or national origin identification and by gender. This information represents a composition "snapshot" as of June 30 for fiscal years 1971 through 1975, but as of September 30 for fiscal years 1976 through 1990 because of the transition to an October-to-September fiscal year in 1976. Fiscal year 1971 and 1972 data reflect service composition prior to implementation of the All-Volunteer Force in 1973.

As you requested, appendix VII contains a copy of my letter to you on January 29, 1991, forwarding the most currently available data provided by the Department of Defense on the composition of troops deployed for Operation Desert Shield. As noted in my letter, the data were current as of mid-December and apply to a deployed troops population of about 260,000. As I also noted, Department of Defense officials expressed concerns about the preciseness of the proportions presented in appendix VII.

Scope and Methodology

We obtained endstrength and composition data from the Defense Manpower Data Center, which began maintaining these racial and ethnic statistics in 1971. We did not verify or test the accuracy of that data. We calculated all percentages on the basis of total service endstrength. All percentages have been rounded to a single decimal place. Data for blacks and whites do not include personnel of Hispanic origin.

We did not obtain formal agency comments on this fact sheet. However, we discussed the information with an official of the Defense Manpower Data Center to ensure that we appropriately presented the data.

As arranged with your office, unless you publicly announce its contents earlier, we plan no further distribution of this fact sheet until 7 days from its issue date. At that time, we will send copies to the Chairmen, Senate Committee on Armed Services, House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, House Committee on Government Operations, and Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs; the Director, Office of Management and Budget; and the Secretaries of Defense, the Air Force, the Army, and the Navy; and other interested parties. We will also make copies available to others upon request.

If you or your staff have any question, please call me on (202) 275-3990. Major contributors are listed in appendix VIII.

Sincerely yours,

Paul L. Jones

Composition of Active Duty Forces for the Services Combined

Appendix I contains data by race or national origin identification and by gender for active duty personnel in the four military services combined: the Army, the Air Force, the Navy, and the Marine Corps. Tables I.1, I.3, and I.5 provide endstrength data for officers, for enlisted personnel, and for officers and enlisted personnel combined, respectively. Tables I.2, I.4, and I.6 show proportions for each group based on the endstrength data provided. All proportions are percentages of total endstrength data for the service in any given year.

Dear Mr. Chairman:

In response to your inquiry regarding the racial and ethnic composition of troops deployed in Desert Shield, and after discussion with Mr. Thorson of your staff, I am forwarding to you data that the Department of Defense has provided in response to inquiries.

According to the Defense Department, the data were current as of mid-December 1990 and referred to an Operation Desert Shield population of about 260,000 deployed forces. The Defense Department noted that the Air Force and Navy were unable to provide separate distributions by "combat arms" occupations deployed to the Persian Gulf. The data include a combat arms breakout for the Army and the Marine Corps which, according to the Department, comprised the largest portion of the combat forces deployed at that time.

According to the Defense Department, the data enclosed showed that minorities were represented in Operation Desert Shield in about the same proportions as their representation in the total force. However, the Department noted that minority representation in the combat arms occupations was somewhat less than the minority representation in the total force.

Officials at the Defense Manpower Data Center and at the Department of Defense told us today that no new compilations of the composition of deployed troops have been prepared since the enclosed data was released. According to the focal point in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Force Management and Personnel, for inquiries regarding the deployed troops, the Defense Manpower Data Center is working on establishing an information system that will be able to provide updated information on the composition of deployed troops on a regular basis.

Information on U.S. Forces Deployed in Operation Desert Shield

However, as we noted when we forwarded this data to your staff on January 8, 1991, and as a Defense Department official reiterated in discussions today, Department of Defense officials have concerns about the preciseness of the proportions presented in the enclosed data. For example, a Department of Defense official explained that definitions used by the services for "deployed" and "in-theater" may not be consistent.

If we can be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to call me at (202) 275-3990.

Sincerely yours,
